

IEEE SMC Society Singapore Chapter

The IEEE SMC Society Singapore Chapter was first founded in 2002. Though newly born, it has co-organized or sponsored various activities such as,

- The 2nd International Conference on Computational Intelligence, Robotics and Autonomous Systems, December 15-18, 2003, Singapore.
- The 3rd International DCDIS Conference on Engineering Applications and Computational Algorithms, May 15-18, 2003, Guelph, Ontario, Canada.
- Italy-Korea-Singapore Workshop on Mechatronics in Medicine and Biology, The Oriental, Singapore, 27 February 2003.
- Short course on “Wireless Sensor Networks for Monitoring Machinery, Human Biofunctions, and BCW Agents” by Prof. Frank L. Lewis, PhD, P.E., Fellow IEEE.
- Seminar on “New Frontiers in Brain Machine Interface Research” by Prof. Dr. Niels Birbaumer from Institute of Medical Psychology and Behavioral Neurobiology, University of Tübingen, Germany and Gerwin Schalk of Wadsworth Centre, New York State Department of Health, USA.

Together with IEEE R&A Society Singapore Chapter, the SMC Society Singapore Chapter is co-organizing the first IEEE Conference on Cybernetics and Intelligent Systems (CIS) and IEEE Conference on Robotics, Automation and Mechatronics (RAM), which will be held in Singapore from December 1-3, 2004. The 2004 CIS/RAM will bring together experts from different expertise areas and from different countries to discuss on the state-of-the-art and to present new research findings and perspectives of future developments with respect to the conference themes. More information regarding 2004 CIS/RAM is available at <http://cis-ram.nus.edu.sg/>.

The intermediate and long term aims of the Chapter are:

1. Actively publicize this Chapter and IEEE, and recruit new members, in particular, student members.
2. Organize industrial oriented seminars and technical talks for the Chapter to be stay in touch with the industry,
3. Plan and organize workshops and conferences to provide a forum for promoting the visions and missions of IEEE SMC Society.

The IEEE SMC Society Singapore Chapter committee of 2004 is as follows:
