Open-rank Faculty Search in Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, USA.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering (ISE) is participating in a university-wide hiring initiative in the areas of Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning (AI/ML).

The call for applications at all ranks is located here:

http://rpijobs.rpi.edu/postings/6807

The ISE Department encourages applications by individuals with strong methodological capabilities whose work addresses compelling problems in one or more high-impact domains. Examples include but are not limited to machine learning in the context of mathematical optimization and artificial intelligence in the context of combined human/machine systems.

Interested candidates are encouraged to contact the chair of the search committee, David Mendonca (mendod@rpi.edu), prior to applying for the position.

Dr. Mendonça will be conducting informational interviews at the 2018 Systems, Man and Cybernetics in Miyazaki.
